3. Daily journaling
4. Lifelong learning
5. Hydration awareness
6. Mindfulness & meditation

HOW TO USE THIS WORKBOOK

- Have a pen ready. Writing it down makes it real.
- Come with an open mind and curiosity.
- Find an accountability buddy and share your wins.
- Be gentle with yourself. Progress, not perfection.
- Celebrate every week, out loud.

SMART GOALS

Specific: be precise about what you want. · Measurable: make it trackable. · Attainable: keep it realistic. · Relevant: align it with your values. · Timely: give it a deadline.

WEEK 1

Goal Setting & Daily Rituals

Set clear goals, then design simple daily rituals that move you toward them.

EXAMPLE MORNING RITUAL

Drink 8 oz of water · stretch or exercise for 20 minutes · say your affirmations outside for 2 minutes

Nutrition: action goal

e.g. I'll eat at least 5 servings of fruits & veggies each week

Nutrition: outcome goal

e.g. I'll feel more energized by the end of the month

Fitness: action goal

e.g. 30 minutes of strength training, 3x a week

Fitness: outcome goal

Mindset: action goal

e.g. Write three gratitudes every day

Mindset: outcome goal

e.g. Feel more positive and resilient within 4 weeks

My morning ritual

Wake-up time, gratitude, movement, intentions, breakfast

My start-of-day ritual

Workspace, top 3 goals, focus practice

My evening ritual

Wind-down, 3 things that went well, bedtime

How will reaching these goals make me feel?

WEEK 2

Breaking Mindless Habits

Pick one mindless habit and get curious about the feeling behind it.

Step 1: The mindless habit I want to break

e.g. snacking while working, doom-scrolling, opening the cupboard when I'm not hungry

---

Step 2: The emotion tied to it

Lonely? Tired? Stressed? Bored?

My substitution

e.g. If I eat when I'm anxious, I'll take 5 deep breaths instead

---

Step 3: One thing I'll do differently

e.g. set a timer to focus on one task at a time

Step 4: How I'll reward myself at the end of the week

FROM THE BOOK

"Are you really hungry, or just seeking a distraction? Loneliness, fatigue, stress, worry… so many emotions drive our behaviors in ways we hardly notice." Take a ten-second pause and just feel.

WEEK 3

Daily Journaling

Five minutes a day for less stress and more self-awareness.

Three things I'm grateful for today

Two things I'm proud of today

One area I'd like to change or improve

Two things I'll do tomorrow to move toward my goals

Two people I connected with, and how it felt

What made me smile today?

MORE PROMPTS

What challenges did I face, and how did I get through them? · What am I looking forward to? · How can tomorrow be a little better?

WEEK 4

Lifelong Learning

Spend at least 10 minutes a day learning something that supports your goals.

Podcasts I'll listen to

Books I'll read

Articles I'll read

Top three things I learned this week

Something new I'll put into practice

Follow-up questions I still have

WEEK 5

Hydrate!

Aim for at least 64 ounces (eight 8-oz glasses) of water a day. Coffee doesn't count.

Our bodies are about 60% water. Even mild dehydration can bring fatigue, irritability, and fuzzy focus. Feeling cranky or tired? Drink a big glass of water and check in with yourself 30 minutes later.

Day	Water (oz)	Notes / how I felt

Day 5
Day 6
Day 7

MAKE IT FUN

Infused water (lemon, cucumber, mint) · non-caffeinated herbal tea · coconut water after a workout · soups and broths · water-rich foods like watermelon, cucumber, and oranges

WEEK 6

Mindfulness & Meditation

Ten minutes a day of meditation or deep breathing to clear your mind and sharpen your focus.

TRY IT: BOX BREATHING

Breathe in for 4 · hold for 4 · breathe out for 4 · pause for 4. Repeat. It shifts your body from “fight or flight” to “rest and digest.”

TIPS

- Create a calm, comfy spot
- Start with 5–10 minutes
- Release expectations, because it's a skill
- Begin each session with deep breaths

HELPFUL APPS

Calm · Insight Timer · Headspace · Ten Percent Happier · Hallow (faith-based)

MINDSET PODCASTS

Happier with Gretchen Rubin · Optimal Living Daily · Good Life Project · The School of Greatness · The Happiness Lab

WEEK 7

Reflect & Revise

Go back to your Week 1 goals. Celebrate what worked and adjust what didn't.

IF I REACHED A GOAL

What action got me there?

Should I continue, or level it up?

IF I HAVEN'T YET

Did I do the work it needed?

What can I do differently?

Is this goal still meaningful to me?

New nutrition goal (action + outcome)

New fitness goal (action + outcome)

New mindset goal (action + outcome)

WEEK 8

Integration & Moving Forward

Bring it all together and plan your next chapter.

My biggest wins from the last 8 weeks

Practices I'll keep

New challenges I'll take on next

My one-sentence commitment

YOU DID IT!

Self-improvement is a journey, not a destination. Keep setting goals, keep building good habits, and keep being kind to yourself. You're not a renewable resource, so keep plugging yourself in.
